In the Forest of Arden lies a field where golden summer's day. Three breezes silver-winged, blow in and sweep the cowbells all away. That all may leave the dreary world And follow Puck in imphish play.

Winged Puck dances thru the forest And finds the pipes of Pan. With seven golden notes. The first note calls the elves. The second note calls the bumble bees. The third note calls the butterflyes. The fourth note calls the water faeries. The fifth note calls the dream faeries led by Shadow of Petal, the air who lies in the heart of a rose.

The sixth note summons the sunbeam faeries. Who shoot their golden arrows and scatter gloomy clouds. The seventh note calls the twilight faeries.

All these brilliant winged creatures Called to life by Pipes of Pan. Dance the Beauty of the Forest Bringing Joy to Every Man.

City Committee Meets Tomorrow

Foregone Conclusion That Primary Will Be Called for August 1st, According to Byrd Law.

Notices have been mailed to the 36 members of the City Democratic Committee, notifying them of the meeting which is to be held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening at eight o'clock at which time the question of having a primary will be decided. There are twelve women members of the committee and twenty-four men. It is a foregone conclusion that the primary will be ordered, this to be held under the Byrd primary law, on August 1st. In this event the names of Claude A. Swanson and Westmoreland Davis will appear on the ticket for the U. S. Senate and also those of Frank Talbott and E. T. Marshall. Should Marshall Book of Halifax come out against Congressman J. M. Hooker, their names would also appear on the ballot.

Under the State primary law each candidate for superintendent of works must pay the city treasurer a primary fee of $200, which is to be paid in the first year's salary. The city treasurer's receipt must be attached to the notice of candidacy, and a petition containing the names of 50 qualified voters must be presented, this asking that the name of the candidate be placed upon the ballot. These papers must be filed with the chairman of the committee John W. Arter at least 60 days before August 1st. There seems to be some doubt as to whether the notice should be filed June 1st or June 2nd, but to be on the safe side the earliest date should be available in order that no issue shall be raised under former Attorney General Pollard's opinion in 1915, filing by June 2nd would be sufficient but the opinion has been expressed that an amendment of the law should be adopted to read on or after June 1st. This point doubtless will be clarified within the next few days.

Both Messrs. Marshall and Talbott have been invited to be present at tomorrow afternoon's meeting, which will be open to the public. The committee will merely determine whether or not a primary shall be held, the State law determining the date.

It was intimated this afternoon that the City Democratic committee will discuss certain proposed reforms in handling the election machinery. The committee is not authorized to make such changes but its recommendations doubtless will be persuasive with the council. Since the last election the city's voting strength has been virtually doubled by the accession of women and unless some substantial provision is made for larger forces at the polls, the counting of the primary vote in August will take unusually long and will keep the community for several hours waiting for returns. One suggestion that has been made is that additional voting machines be provided for, or at least a larger corps of tellers at the voting places.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 25.—Thirty-two persons were injured, a number seriously, when a trolley car was struck by a freight train of the Virginia Great Southern Railroad at Woodlawn. Confusion in following a crank of the crossing mechanism is believed to have caused the accident.

The coal is right there in the Ruhr. It doesn't have to be hauled for miles before being available. Coal is cheap. In the next place the Ruhr valley and the neighboring country is situated with large heavy manufacturing towns in which most of the people are workers of other industries and are well paid. Consequently they are highly paid laborers, live in comfortable homes and want all the conveniences of electric lighting, abundant water supply, and gas for cooking purposes. Further, the entire region is intersected by street car systems and of electric narrow gauge railways which haul material from mill to mill.

Twenty-five years ago Stunnes became active in forming several companies to undertake the public utility. (Continued on page 7.)

Look For Relief In Freight Burden At Atlanta Meet

Spencer James, representative from the Danville Chamber of Commerce, has just returned from Atlanta where the Southern class rates investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission is holding its session. Rates now in effect in territory covered by local jobbers render it almost impossible for them to do business in territory south of Danville that in a few years has become most profitable to them.

Mr. James was sent by the Chamber of Commerce to Atlanta to secure information in regard to proposed changes in Southeastern territory where efforts are being made to have the Interstate Commerce Commission handle the freight rates and to eliminate freight rate discrimination.

The meeting in Atlanta is considered by the freight and tariff authorities as being the most important meeting held in the past twenty-five years, and the hearing is expected to result in the solution of important rate problems which have confronted this territory for a long time. It is proposed that:

1. The mileage system as the rock-bottom foundation of all rate fixing.
2. The fix definite percentage relationship between class rates which will mean that every railroad will be called upon to change its present system of rates.
3. Application of class rates in all directions.

A general compliance with the section which provides no higher rates for shorter distances than for long distances. Mr. James is of the opinion if these general proposals can be realized that Danville will be largely benefited and that local shippers and receivers of freight will be relieved to a considerable extent of the tariff burdens which they bear at the present time. The Chamber of Commerce through its traffic committee has been working in season and out of season for a reduction of rates, as the very existence of shippers depends upon some relief in this direction. Mr. James advises shippers to be patient, as good results will come out of the session at Atlanta.

Civil War Period Depicted In Floats In State Pageant

(Special to The Bee)
RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—Headed by Major D. T. Coghill of Caroline county, representing General Robert E. Lee, today's parade incidental to the Virginia State Pageant, was perhaps the most successful in the entire affair. Major Coghill is eighty-four years old, he is tall and erect with snow white hair falling in curly waves about his shoulders. He is dressed in a beautiful white charger and astride a beautiful white charger and every step the crowds cheered him and he returned the cheering by a graceful swing of his slouch hat.

Passing the national colors at various points, he saluted in a dignified and soldierly fashion. Seated in automobiles provided by the Rotary Club were the veterans of the Civil War, several hundred of them, and they, too, won applause. Then came the Spanish War Veterans, a few of them in solid columns, and a few of them in many gray-haired men, and right behind them the snappy, alert men who have been overseas in the World War—the men who had fought and won. The parade was an ovation the entire route.

Following several floats—General Lee leaving Arlington, receiving his commission from President Davis, a float by the Patriotic Sons of America and one showing the old Medical College of Virginia, one of the best known buildings in the city. This was the last of the famous Allens now doing time in the penitentiary, for shooting up Carroll county court several years ago.

THE STORY OF CONFEDERACY.
RICHMOND, May 25.—The glory and tragedy of the Confederate period of Virginia's history were portrayed today in vivid floats in a long procession which featured the fourth day of the Virginia historical pageant. Confederate Veterans and patriotic organizations participated, presenting the chief episodes in Civil War Days.

Get Seven Men And Six Stills
(Special to The Bee)
RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—With a record of seven men and six stills prohibition officers returned today from Fairfax and Loudoun counties. The officers destroyed the stills and all the men were bailed for their appearance in court. The bootleggers and others said that liquor would go to $20 a quart as a result of the raids.

Danville Party Back From Ocracoke Trip
(By The Associated Press.)
Col. A. R. Carrington, A. R. Carrington, Jr., D. P. Withers, and W. C. Wooding have returned from Ocracoke, where they have been on a party. All of the members of the party are unharmed and give evidence of a healthful life in the open. Judge Withers said today that it was a delightful outing and that they caught a good deal of "sun" and "sea air" and were refreshed and rejuvenated. The party was accompanied by Danville Sound on one side and the ocean on the other.

Bachelors Hall Gives Invitation For Big Picnic

The committee appointed to make plans for the Chamber of Commerce outing in June has received an urgent invitation from O. L. Dodson, manager of a dairy farm at Bachelors Hall, that the proposed event be held there. The letter he has written is as follows: "Chamber of Commerce, Danville, Va., 'Gentlemen,'

"We understand you contemplate holding a picnic about June 1. If you care to hold it out at our place we can furnish you with the best water in the United States and Canada combined, and the best 'Gurnsey' milk in the world, also ice cream etc., all free, shade, etc. all thrown in. Come to our place and enjoy yourselves. No red tape whatever; nothing to sell, just a good time to you. 'Shut ins' let us hear from you.

"Yours very respectfully, "BACHELORS HALL DAIRY, "O. L. Dodson, Manager."

Crop Conditions In Old Dominion

Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Virginia for the week ending May 24, 1922.

There were frequent showers early in the week especially over the western portion of the state, and rainfall was rather heavy over that section. It was also heavy at local points in the southeast and caused some delay in outdoor work. Moderate temperature prevailed, though with some hot spells, but no normal due to much cloudiness. With needed rain, crops in the east made good progress, in the west growth was also satisfactory, but more warm, sunny weather would be beneficial. Corn is generally reported as coming up well, though a few reports from the north indicate poor stands; planting is nearing completion. Good progress was made during the week in transplanting sweet potato and tobacco plants. The first cutting got afloat in the Potomac. Soy beans and cotton are reported as making good progress. The cabbage crop in the southeast is excellent. Strawberries and truck and plentiful, damage by hail occurred at scattered points, and cut worms are reported as unusually active.

Brosville Kiddies Give Entertainment

The campus of Brosville High school was gay with color and light with smile and song yesterday afternoon when the junior members of the school entertained the older pupils and a host of parents and friends with May Day festivities.

The exercises of Wednesday night a part of the closing exercises of the school. It was the contribution of the little folks to the finals of the session. Miss White in a few words of introduction welcomed the visitors. Miss Dora Jordan, teacher of Grades II and III told the story of the play to be presented, and the little players began their performance.

The play Maypole, the trons for the Queen and the artificial grove in the rear added to the attractive scene. Following the play, the poor lassie finding the throne and wishing for three things before falling asleep, the coming of the delightful fairies to find the sleeping girl, the return of the playmates, their discovery of the little sleeper, and choosing her for their queen, finding the royal robes for her majesty and the loving adoration of her loyal subjects—all passed before the observers to their admiration and delight. In the imagination and beauty of the children and the long the pleasant exercises of the day.

Robs Bank to Aid Sick Wife

Handelman Institution Relieve dof $500 by Grady Ferguson, Who Uses Pistol.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 25.—With a convincing revolver leveled at them, employees of the Bank of Handelman aton yesterday stood by and watched Grady Ferguson, white youth of Handelman boldly rob the bank of about $500.

"Don't say a word. I need this money to my sick wife who is in a hospital in High Point," declared Ferguson, who backed out of the bank and made good his escape on foot. Officers of nearby towns were immediately notified, but up to a late hour last night to trace of the youth had been found.

"Claude Newland and Miss Elsie Willard," stated A. B. Beasley, cashier of the bank, last night over long distance telephone, "were in the bank at the time of the robbery. Grady Ferguson, heretofore a highly respected young man of the town, came in and asked for a returned check. Mr. Newland and Miss Willard turned their backs to Ferguson and started to look for the check. They heard a noise and faced Ferguson, who at that time had climbed up on the lattice frame of the cage and had most of the money in sight in his hand—about $500. He also had a pistol leveled at them. He told them to be quiet that he wanted the money for his sick wife, who is in a High Point hospital. Ferguson started toward High Point but no one has seen him since the occurrence.

The young man's spectacular hold-up of the little town of Handelman like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. Handelman's people are shocked. They cannot begin to explain the act of Ferguson, who has lived all his life in Handelman and has never before been guilty of any unlawful conduct and was respected in the town. His father, Taylor Ferguson, is a good citizen, who also commands the respect of the community. The family is esteemed by the people.

Norfolk Woman Wins Verdict For Rent

NORFOLK, May 24.—In the Circuit court yesterday Judge John W. Fishburne presiding, the case of Mrs. Emma F. Cook, of Norfolk, against F. Monroe Bowen of near Greensboro, on a claim for unpaid rent of a farm in that section for a period of years and certain damages alleged to have been done by defendant, was tried before a jury of seven and after the evidence was all in a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $200 with interest less $38 paid for taxes.

The claim grew out of a lease made over the telephone in 1917, when Capt. Allen M. Cook, husband of the plaintiff, was in the naval service at Norfolk in connection with the contract with Germany. Besides, the duty of the times prevented the drafting of some by Mr. Cook, and the disagreement causing the action grew out of this fact.

Mr. Bowen admitted that he had rented the place, which is a 100 tract with small buildings thereon on the Afton road, the lease being by year at $100 per annum. But he maintained that the navy officer, not having paid the rent, had agreed to keep up the fence and also have the place cleaned up, which was denied. Defendant had not paid the rent for three years past, and a counter claim for some $443, alleged to have become due him from loss of use of the place for grazing because of the fences being out of repair. Work had done in keeping up the property and some repairs to the house. These the jury disallowed, and gave the plaintiff the verdict for three years' rent, as stated.

Annual Reunion Plans Are Made

RICHMOND, May 25.—All members of the United Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, sponsors and malis matrons of honor, who come to Richmond for the annual reunion, June 19-22, will have the privilege of traveling at reduced rates of fare. General J. Lane Stern, chairman of the reunion committee, has completed negotiations with the railroad and transportation system whereby the veterans and accompanying members of their families may travel at the rate of one cent per mile. Members of affiliated organizations will be given the benefit of the round trip to Richmond and return at the rate of one-way fare. The city is making preparations to entertain not less than 5,000 of the surviving 45,000 Confederate soldiers, although this number of visitors will be increased several times by the presence of the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy, other affiliated organizations and sponsors.

The opening date for the actual reunion of the veterans is June 20, although the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy Southern Memorial Association will start their program one day earlier. All of the organizations will close their meetings simultaneously, on or June 22.

The program of exercises and entertainment indicate that this will be one of the most elaborate reunions in the history of the United Confederate Veterans. One of the most impressive features during the reunion will be the laying of the cornerstone of a monument to the Confederate navy, and one of the heroes of the Confederate navy.

Swinging Pistol in Auto Accidentally Kills Man

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 24.—Will Pauley, who lived on Little Walker's Creek, was accidentally killed near the top of Little Walker's Mountain, this county, Sunday afternoon, when a pistol, which he had swinging on the accelerator of his car, discharged. The bullet went through his heart.

Pauley was accompanied by Henry Hancock. It is said that while they were driving up the mountain Pauley fired at a cow, then later pulled down on a cartridge which hung fire, and afterward hung the gun on the accelerator by the trigger guard.

It is supposed that Pauley later was removing the gun or using the throttle when the accident occurred. Hancock not happening to be looking at him at the moment the gun went off. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Orders Pickets to Quit White House

"More Vigorous Measures Will Be Adopted," Child "Crusader" Leader Threatens.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, leader of the Children Crusaders, effect the release of political prisoners, has accused President Harding's word that he will not be swayed by "theatrical parades." Mrs. O'Hare announced the picketing of today, but "more vigorous measures would be adopted."

Tonight Mrs. O'Hare confessed she did not know exactly of what these "more vigorous measures" would consist, but insisted the fight to free the 200 or more prisoners would not cease until every man was out of jail.

In announcing the picketing of the White House had been called off, Mrs. O'Hare said that May 19, she sent a letter to President Harding in which she quoted Pardon Attorney Finch as saying that "the machinery of the department of justice for handling the cases of the remaining political prisoners had broken down." That he was unable to say when it would be possible "if ever" to report to the President on each individual case.

Mr. Finch denies he told Mrs. O'Hare, or any one else the machinery of the department had broken down, but had merely told her he could not say when the individual reports would go to the President.

"In the letter," Mrs. O'Hare adds, "we suggested that in the interests of justice, the administration concede the point that these were wartime cases, by the presence of the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy, other affiliated organizations and sponsors."

The opening date for the actual reunion of the veterans is June 20, although the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy Southern Memorial Association will start their program one day earlier. All of the organizations will close their meetings simultaneously, on or June 22.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER DOUBTS TENET OF "WHITE AUSTRALIA"

LONDON, May 25.—"Many of us Australians looked with apprehension upon the results of the recent Washington conference, because of the limitation imposed upon the British navy. For out in Australia we look upon that navy as our shield and buckler from all harm."

This from Henry Newman Barwell, prime minister and attorney general of South Australia, who will make a brief visit to the United States and Canada on route home. He will spend from May 28 to 31 in New York and Washington, then will go to Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and across the continent via Canada.

His official business in America is to interview export railroad men. South Australia is in the market for a crack railroader to run her state railways. Premier Barwell will be a number of English applicants and he wants to confer with Americans and Canadians also.

"Australians' apprehension about the British navy limitations," Barwell said further, "was somewhat allayed by the closer and friendlier relations between America and England, growing out of that conference."

"So long as the English-speaking Commonwealths are on good terms and work together for peace, I believe peace is assured—at least, in the Pacific ocean."

Australians by a considerable majority have set up for themselves the ideal of a white Australia. It's a beautiful ideal, but I am not sure that it can be worked.

"I am in entire sympathy with Lord Northcliffe's warning that a great empty Australian continent is both a menace to peace, and an incitation to other and more crowded nations."

"Some of the most fertile lands we have are in northern Australia where whites cannot thrive. I have always believed it would be wise to develop that section of our continent by means of colored labor."

"We would help develop Australia, we would add to the wealth of our Commonwealth and we would increase the food stores of the world."

chine struck Mr. Clarke a direct blow, a fatal accident might have been the result. The accident occurred on Lynn street about 9:30 o'clock.

Require Motorists To Carry Photos

NEW YORK, May 24.—The board of aldermen today adopted an ordinance requiring all motorists to carry traffic violation cards decorated with their photographs. The cards will have spaces in which traffic policemen will make marks for the first four minor violations of the law. When the fourth mark is made, the motorist will have to be fined or appear in traffic court.

High School Boy Stabbed To Death

BRISTOL, May 24.—John Adams, 14-year-old high school boy of Appleton, Wis., was stabbed to death by Theodore Thorpe, 12, on the school grounds at Appleton last day following a quarrel between the two. Adams died almost instant from the knife wound near the heart. Thorpe was held in jail for the fourth time in the past year when they met on the school grounds.

K. of C. In Session

LYNNHURST, May 24.—The 27th annual meeting of the State Council of the K. of C. of Virginia convened here today with about 350 out-of-town visitors in attendance. Prior to the meeting of the convention, Rev. A. C. Campbell of Richmond spoke to the delegates at the Holy Cross Catholic Church during mass celebrated by the Rev. John A. Kullback, state chaplain of Roanoke. C. M. Roberts, head of the local council, welcomed the visitors. The afternoon session of the convention an automobile ride. Election of officers will take place tomorrow.

Preparing For Bitter Clash

War On Moonshiners of Tennessee, Kentucky and the Carolinas by Special Platoon Means Hard Fight.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 24.—The news from Washington that special platoons of federal prohibition agents are to invade Tennessee, Kentucky and the Carolinas in a war on moonshine whiskey means unquestionably that blood is to flow freely in the mountain districts of these Southern states.

The prohibition commissioner will need to send sturdy men to cope with the illicit distillers and mountaineer bootleggers. There will be no compromise. The federal agents will go to the wooded depths of the Appalachians. The statement of the national prohibition commissioner that this is to be a rifle and shot gun campaign shows some comprehension of the task in hand.

Already the feud between the moonshiners and the officers of the law has reached such a stage of bitterness that "shoot on sight" is almost the unwritten law of the hills. Within three months two sheriffs and three deputy sheriffs have met death in courageous efforts to stop the flow of whiskey into the city of Chattanooga alone.

The moonshiners or bootleggers followed many of the battles have spirited away their dead and wounded, but the edge of the struggle is believed to rest with the officers.

In the old days, when the sale of liquor was legal, the moonshiners, like his relative farther north, was a law abiding citizen, except that he made white whiskey because he considered it his God-given right. Fugitives were rare even in the old days, and the owners of the stills were often surrendered when unable to make a getaway.

With the coming of absolute prohibition the old timer has either quit the business or has been transformed into a murderous individual with gun and knife, and his forces have been augmented by the transporting fraternity who have been lured into the hazardous business by its tremendous profits and when brought to bay usually give no quarter and ask none.

Trinkle Yields And Doesn't Fly

RICHMOND, Va., May 24.—Yielding to the wishes of Mrs. Trinkle, Gov. Trinkle declined the invitation to fly over Richmond yesterday in the Vought plane brought here by Commander T. Gordon Glynn and Lieutenant V. C. Griffin for the pageant.

Following the two accidents of Monday, when the governor was endangered first by the running away of his horse in the opening parade and again when his automobile collided with a live electric wire at night, Mrs. Trinkle felt that an airplane flight would be tempting Providence.

Jazz Class Gave Her Permanent Wiggle; Girl Asks $10,000

CHICAGO, May 24.—Modern dancing did so much to Miss Marie Ehlers she has sued Ernie Young, a theatrical promoter, for $10,000. She says she is suffering from "diarthrosis." In her bill she states she also has contracted a disease which causes her limbs and body to quiver when she hears jazz music.

The bill sets forth Young required her "to execute many contortions, convulsions, distortions and gyrations associated with modern dancing aberrations, particularly twisting and writhing of the hips and shivering and convulsing of the shoulders."

Therefore, Mrs. Ehlers continues, she was greatly injured and fell a victim of the malady known as "diarthrosis."

Of the jazz emotion she said she is "peculiarly sensitive to sonorous instruments, suggestive of an accented syncopation of a jazz orchestra, which incites her involuntarily and unconsciously to wiggle and revolve."

Premier's Tactics Assailed In London

LONDON, May 24.—Premier Lloyd George's decision to put forward Sir Laming Worthington Evans, minister for war, to relate the results of the Genoa conference, reserving his own speech until he has heard all that the critics have to say, seems to have raised a little political storm.

The prime minister's opponents contend the country has a right to hear an account of his stewardship from Mr. Lloyd George himself and that by the present manoeuvre he is making to gain a tactical debating triumph, whereby he hopes to make the opposition look ridiculous.

Even newspapers which support Mr. Lloyd George warn him that he is making a mistake and urge him to reconsider his decision.

The Labor and Independent Liberal parties took a step today to force the premier to reconsider the matter. They decided that none of their members shall speak in the debate until Mr. Lloyd George has spoken, and it is reported that the conservatives, although not yet definitely decided, are inclined to take a similar course.

SEVERE ITCHING BURNING TETTER

Also Itching Scalp. Hair Fell Out. Could Hardly Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered more than a year with tetter and itching scalp. The tetter broke out in pimples and blisters, and the itching and burning were so severe that I scratched and irritated them and became lifeless and dry. At night I could hardly sleep. Firestone CORD TIRES

The section at the right was cut from a new Cord of the same size. Careful measurements show that only 1/3 of the tread of the tire on the Yellow Cab has been worn away after this long, grueling test. The carcass is intact after more than 11,000,000 revolutions.

Firestone Cords have averaged over 10,000 miles on Chicago Yellow Cabs (1200 cabs all Firestone equipped). In thousands of instances, they have given from 15,000 to 20,000 miles.

Look at the tread—scientifically angled against skid, massive

This is the reason why Firestone Cords unfailingly deliver extra-long mileage. It explains the unanimous demand of thoughtful tire buyers for these values. The local Firestone dealer will continue to provide the personal service that makes Firestone tire comfort and economy complete.

DRINKS BRANCH, May 25.—(Grapevine Wireless)—Hot Dog! We can get the gas pipes blown out now, and have Hot Biscuits every morning! Eugene Marshall has thrown his hat into the ring for a finish fight with Frank Talbot for the office of City Purchasing Agent and Superintendent of Public Utilities. The August primary will be an august affair indeed and we will get hot-up right in the middle of summer. An old-time revival of the Democratic hosts, a veritable picnic for the lady voters. But it will be a clean-cut campaign, both gentlemen are long on dignity and the mud-hoofs will not be in evidence. Just a rum-shoot, still hunt for votes with the underground wires working smoothly and silently; with a weather eye on the lookout for short circuits. Mr. Talbot is a brother of no mean attainments, he is capable and efficient. Mr. Marshall has gone quietly along rendering valuable service to the city as a member of the old council; he, too, is not without experience in the ramifications of city government. So, we would say that the "country is safe" which ever way the plum falls. It is intimated that the council-of-nine may cut the salary if Marshall is elected, but this is more speculation. We don't believe it, for golf players are good sports, generally speaking, and they have their own fences to look after in the sweet by and bye. Just sit tight, boys, and don't get excited. Remember, all things come to him who waits on himself. Pay your poll tax if you want a ring-side seat!

Linda Lee Inc. by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

She rehearsed the scene, but Bel failed not only to call at the hour appointed or to send word of explanation.

Lucinda had sacrificed the evening to sense of duty; a true sacrifice, for Lynn was leaving early next morning to spend a fortnight with his company in an Oregon logging camp.

Long patience, Lucinda called the Alexandria on the telephone, and was informed that Mr. Druce had "checked out" early in the morning, leaving nothing of an intention to return.

No note came from Bellamy the next morning, and nothing transpired in the course of the next several weeks to afford any clue to the riddle; with the upshot that Lucinda thought about her husband a great deal more than she wanted to or had at any time since leaving Chicago. It was strange, it wasn't like Bel to treat any woman so rudely.

XXIV
JACQUES kept the Summerland company away so long that its return found the first Linda Lee production in full swing, with Barry Nolan in command, Lucinda playing the supple puppet of his whim. Fanny demurely walking through the feminine part of second importance, and Lontaine functioning at the peak of his capacity as executive genius.

Why it should be so hard on him nobody seemed to know and Lontaine was too busy to explain.

To all his symptoms of haste and bounce, his wife played silent but attentive audience; though oftentimes her pretty eyes would light up with an unspoken comment too pungent to be wasted and, discreetly questioning a sympathetic confidant, would find it without fail in Barry Nolan.

Irish both by descent and profession, Nolan had at least that sense conspicuously developed. What others he possessed was a question which came to occupy many of Lucinda's spare moments. She couldn't account for Nolan's high place in cinema, unless a sprightly disposition, a fetching grin, infectious verve, impudence without end, and a distinctly indicated vein of genius at snap-shooting, summed up the essential qualifications of a director who pretended to earn a wage of $25,000 per production.

But Lucinda first mistrusted his ability because of his appalling ignorance concerning rudimentary principles of social usage.

Since the story they were concerned with had to do with people of fashionable New York, Lucinda thought it important that their manners should conform to approved convention; but Nolan was so little concerned in such matters and his impatience with them was wholehearted. "Ah, what's it matter? Ninety per cent of your audiences are solid bone from the neck up, and the rest wouldn't think they'd got their money's worth unless they found something to beef about in a picture. Why worry about little things like that? Life's too short, and we're wasting time."

But that distrust of Barry Nolan's competency which troubled Lucinda's mind almost from the very outset of their association had yet to crystallize on the Saturday when Summerland was expected home.

To get rid of Lucinda's presence, which instinct was already beginning to warn him was silently skeptical of his claims—Nolan artfully suggested that she might like to review the rushes of yesterday's camera work.

Assuming that she would find the projection-room empty, Lucinda made her way to it without bothering to remove her make-up, but on opening the door saw a fan-like beam of turbid light wavering athwart its darkness, and would have withdrawn, had not Zinn's thick and genial accents hailed her from the rear of the long, black-walled, tunnel-like chamber.

"Come right on in, Miss Lee. We'll be through in a minute. Just running some of the film over through from Joe Jacques yesterday. 'Great stuff that boy Summerland's putting over this time.'"

Then with a fluttering heart Lucinda identified her husband in Zinn's companion.

"What hands with Mr. Druce, Miss Lee, new tenant of mine, going to work here same as you, just signed a lease for space to make his first production."

"What?" At that monosyllable of dismayed protest, Lucinda saw Zinn's little eyes of a pig grow wide with surprise.

"But I am fortunate, Mr. Zinn, in already having the honor of Miss Lee's acquaintance," Bellamy took possession of her hand.

"Is that so? You two know each other? Why don't you tell me?" Lucinda found her voice all at once, but hardly he self-possession.

She went to his arms with a cry of joy.

"It isn't—it can't be true! Bel! It isn't true you're—"

"Afraid it is, Linda." Bel's smile was lightly mocking. "The picture business has got me in its toils at last. Only needed that trip out here to decide me. Now I'm in up to my ears. Something to do, you know."

When Zinn departed, however, Bel's manner changed.

"I'm sorry, Linda—I really don't mean to be a pest—"

"Then why are you here?" "Give me half a chance."

"You had that chance weeks ago, and deliberately refused it."

But surely you got my note explaining I was called east on two hours' notice, but would return as soon as I could?"

"Possibly," Lucinda suggested with labored scorn, "you misadvised it, forgetting which of your numerous feminine acquaintances you were writing to."

"I addressed it," Bel insisted stoutly, "to Mrs. Bellamy Druce."

"If so, that explains it. They know me at the hotel only as Linda Lee."

When the screen once more shone blank and the ceiling light flashed on, Bel was smiling cheerfully.

"No wonder you fell for the screen so hard, Linda; you're exquisite, and no mistake."

"You said you wanted to explain, Bel; you won't get another chance."

He nodded soberly. "I can say I want to in three minutes. Then you're free to call it quits for good, if you like."

That posed her rudely? Did he mean—could it be possible he meant he had become reconciled to the rift in their relations?

"Can you doubt that's what I'll like, Bel?"

"Bellamy gave his head a stubborn shake and stopped nearer. "Please don't be angry because of anything stupid I may say. I came out here that first time dead set to win you back at any cost, still madly in love with you, absolutely unable to conceive of a life that didn't pivot on you, Linda. I was prepared to give you any pledges you could possibly ask—"

"Did you flatter yourself any pledge you could give would mean anything to me when you'd broken your word so often?"

"I hoped I could make you understand what a blow your leaving me had been, how it had brought me to my senses at last, joined me up on the water-wagon, where I've been ever since—I haven't had a suspicion of a drink, Linda, since that night you ran away—and made me see what an unspeakable rotter I'd been, fooling around with women as I had. That's another thing I cut out like a shot. I haven't looked sideways at another woman since."

"Not even after discovering I'd fallen in love with another man?"

"Not even after that. Somehow casual women don't mean anything to me any more—I mean, casual flirtations. They're too damn stupid—silly waste of time. I guess I had to be squiffy, as I used to be most of the time, not to be bored by them then."

"This is all very interesting, I'm sure. But after all, it doesn't explain—now, does it?"

"It explains why I followed you out here the first trip, why I had to see you in another man's arms, kissing him, and then hear all the small-town gossip about you two before I'd believe."

"There is gossip then?" "What do you think? According to all reports, you've been going it, rather, you and this chap Summerland—stepping out together," as they say in Hollywood.

Lucinda affected a shrug of indifference. Bel mustn't guess she cared what people said.

"And what has that to do—?" "Just this, I don't like it. As I say, if you want to run around with a movie actor, that's your affair; but so long as you remain my wife, it's my affair, too. Don't forget it's my name you're trailing through the neck of this sink-hole of scandal!"

She flamed at him—"Bel!"—but he wouldn't heed.

"You don't suppose you're going to get away with the Linda Lee thing much longer, do you? If all these people don't know it's an assumed name, now, they jolly soon will. If you're going through, if you're bent on leading the life you have been leading ever since you fell in with these people, be good enough to keep my wife's name out of it! Get your divorce, and get it soon. That's all I have to ask of you."

Lucinda replied with a slow inclination of her head.

"What you want is my dearest wish," she said. "I depend on it, Bel, I won't waste a day. I'll take the first train I can catch for Reno, after finishing this picture."

"That's simply splendid of you!" Bellamy declared heartily. "Anything I can do to help along, of course—just let me know."

"I'll be glad if you'll go now," Lucinda told him. "I think I've had about all I can stand for one day."

"Then, goodbye, my dear—a thousand thanks!"

XXV
"It is funny," Lucinda confessed to Fanny that night. "I don't pretend to understand..."

No more did she. But the seeds of suspicion that conversation planted took root readily and flowered into a dark jungle of strange fancies in which fear's ran wild until Lynn Summerland came home to charm them all away.

Lucinda only needed to see him, indeed, to forget her troubles altogether and become once more the voluntary thrall of a species of intoxication as potent to her senses as a drug.

The Lontaines had arranged a supper party at Santa Monica in Summerland's honor for that night. At seven Summerland called, finding his way unannounced to Lucinda's sitting-room. She went to his arms with a cry of joy, buried her face on his shoulder, clung to him as if she would never let him go.

"I missed you so, Lynn, I've missed you so!"

WIFE DEFENDS WARD, WHO PAID $30,000 BLACKMAIL, THEN SLEW

MR. AND MRS. WALTER S. WARD AND THEIR HOME IN NEW ROCHELLE.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 25.—A wife's loyalty and a much-sought-for millionnaire baker, confessed slayer of a man he says was one of a gang mercilessly bleeding him of money in a blackmail plot.

Ward's torture of two months, during which he saw sums ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 were extorted from him, ended only temporarily when he revolted under the demand of three of the gang for $75,000 and shot and killed Clarence Peters, ex-marine, on a lonely road near this New York suburb.

New torture began then, when in his beautiful home in New Rochelle he confessed the details of the blackmail plot to his pretty young wife.

What was the secret he told her? What was the hidden thing that led him into pay as much as $75,000 in installments to prevent exposure?

Mrs. Bessie Curtis Ward knows. But she only smiles cheerfully and says confidently: "Everything will come out all right."

Officials are helping the young couple keep their secret. They say Ward frankly related to his wife after the tragedy all the details that led up to the revolt that ended to Peters' death.

She encouraged him, it is said, to place trust in the authorities as he had done in her. Courageously, she backed him up in his claim that she killed Peters in self-defense.

Mrs. Ward is small and slender, with dark brown hair and gray eyes, an attractive picture in a white sport skirt and red sweater the day Ward gave himself up to the sheriff of Westchester county.

Sheriff Warner said positively that no woman figured in the blackmailing. Ward's counsel, answering the report that the young millionnaire had been subjected to some form of racial blackmail, said it was "something of that kind."

Your Chance Of Becoming President Hangs On Size Of Your Head!

MILWAUKEE, May 25.—Your chance of becoming president of the United States depends on the size of your head.

Byron W. Kuhn says so—and he's the nation's greatest authority on presidential heads.

Kuhn is not a phenologist or a psycho-analyst. He's more than that—he's a batter!

Kuhn has made silk toppers for six presidents—Grant, Hayes, Garfield, McKinley, Taft and Harding. And his conclusions:

"You can't be president unless you have a big head—literally. No man with a head less than seven and three-eighths in size can ever be president."

The hats five made for presidents have ranged from seven and three-eighths to seven and five-eighths. President Harding wears a seven and three-eighths size. Taft wore a seven and one-half.

Grant required a seven and one-half. McKinley required a seven and one-half. Roosevelt required a seven and one-half. Wilson required a seven and one-half. Hoover required a seven and one-half.

Kuhn came to Milwaukee in 1883 and made his first presidential stove-pipe in 1870. He's kept duplicates of all his masterpieces in presidential lockers.

Sleuths Find an Underground Still

HARRISONBURG, May 23.—Discovery of a concealed underground moonshine distillery, entered by a trap door from above, and fully equipped with a still and containing many jugs and jars of the completed liquor products, led to the arrest yesterday of Charles E. Lam and James Lee, of near Sparkling Springs. After a hearing before Magistrate Arzenbright and Cooper they were lodged in jail on a charge of making and dispensing illicit liquor where they will await the action of the grand jury.

Sheriff Dillard, accompanied by deputies Rexroad and Fawley, made a raid on the Lam place early yesterday. When the underground still was lighted within, but giving no sign of its presence without, except the trap door, was discovered there were evidence that the occupants had made a hasty getaway. Lam and Lee were discovered shortly afterward at the

FREQUENT DIPS HELP KEEP BABY COMFORTABLE

HE HAS HAD HIS BATH AND IS READY FOR HIS NAP

BY MRS. MAX WEST,
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

WHEN the baby frets and wails with discomfort after a long hot day, in bath or before, mothers wonderfully find relief in a simple way. The water should be warm, but not too hot. A little bath, and a quick dip into cold water and out again.

No soap need be used in these cool dips, and the process need not last more than a few minutes. The water should be just warm enough to soothe the baby, and a little bath, and a quick dip into cold water and out again.

If the baby is tired and can't sleep, a little bath, and a quick dip into cold water and out again. The baby will be comfortable and ready for his nap.

For a soda bath, dissolve two tablespoons of cooking soda in a gallon of water. This, too, is soothing in a heat bath.

A sponge bath, meaning one in which the baby is washed off with

New York Official Facing Jail Term

NEW YORK, May 23.—The United States circuit court of appeals yesterday reversed the order of Judge Maer, which freed Comptroller Craig of the contempt of court sentence by Judge Mayer, and directed that Mr. Craig be returned to the custody of the federal marshal for service of sentence.

The Comptroller has one legalistic left to keep him from Ward in New York and sixty days in Essex county jail, New Jersey. He may appeal to the Supreme court for a writ of certiorari and he may apply to the senior judge of the circuit court for a stay pending this appeal.

That this will be done was indicated yesterday, when, after the decision had been handed down, a representative of Edmund L. Mooney, Mr. Craig's lawyer, appeared before Judge Maer, and requested that the order of the court be stayed for a day. This was set for today.

Except on matters of "public importance," Mr. Maer's order of writ of certiorari are not granted, but said Judge Rogers practically had indicated the matter would go to the Supreme court of the United States when he said:

"If this court is in error in the conclusion that the majority has reached, it is by no means impossible that the supreme court can correct any mistake we may make."

UNABLE TO AGREE
WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Senate Judiciary committee was again today unable to agree regarding action on the House anti-lynching bill and will meet again tomorrow.

The principle of the bill, said that drafting of a substitute bill was under consideration, with a view to elimination of features of the House bill declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

A sponge bath, meaning one in which the baby is washed off with given in the morning, being for cleansing, should be warm, but never hot. Every mother should possess a bath thermometer and should regulate the water by it.

A little pure castile soap may be used, but when any sort of soap is applied to a baby, it should be thoroughly rinsed off to avoid danger of irritating the tender skin.

Other baths, useful in summer, are bran, starch and soda. To make a bran bath, fill a small cheesecloth bag with clean bran and soak and squeeze the bath until the water is milky.

Let the baby stay in the bath a few minutes, and the skin will be slightly coated with a thin paste which is soothing in case of prickly heat. A starch bath is made by adding a cup of cold cooked laundry starch to a gallon of water. The use and effect are similar to the bran bath.

For a soda bath, dissolve two tablespoons of cooking soda in a gallon of water. This, too, is soothing in a heat bath.

National Issue Touched Upon In Mission Report

DES MOINES, Ia., May 25.—The Wood-Forbes investigation in the Philippines, the situation in China, Mexican and Japanese relations, the non-cooperative movement in India, and the Near Eastern question were touched upon in the report of the Presbyterian Board Assembly of the United States of America, Rev. Dr. George Alexander is president of the board.

The Wood-Forbes report was declared, despite the recommendation of making haste slowly, a tribute to the good sense, the desire for knowledge and the idealism of the Philippine people. The report of the mission board asserted that the four-power treaty would help solve "one of the larger difficulties that confront the Philippine program, viz., the danger of aggression by other nations." Speaking of the Filipino people the report continued, "Their course of 'active cooperation' in the administration of the government is in great contrast with the non-cooperative campaign of the nationalists in India."

While deprecating the nationalist campaign in India, expressing confidence in British generosity, and declaring that "a vast number of leading Indians are counseling moderation," the report also quoted a letter from a Christian worker in India which expressed admiration for the spirit of the nationalist movement, as follows:

"The pledges of the national volunteer corps, which the government has declared unlawful, take one back to Covenanters days in Scotland. We cannot but admire such a spirit as this, nor would it be hard for us to discover the source from which the spirit proceeded. The like has never before appeared in India, and would not have appeared today had not the Gospel message come here, the true meaning of which perhaps people of India may help the rest of the world to understand. At the close of a lecture delivered recently by a missionary, Tombo, the chairman, a Hindu, said: 'Is it not remarkable that in the whole world, the only country where a great national movement,

German President Is Retiring Man

(By The Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 25.—In a social sense, President Friedrich Ebert is probably the most retiring chief of any European democracy.

Society, as it is understood in other countries, is non-existent in Berlin. The great majority of the old Prussian aristocracy have withdrawn to the seclusion of their country estates. They have no desire to mix with the "newly rich" and the new order of things is frankly repugnant to them. Visitors are few at 73 Wilhelmstrasse and no country cousins stop to rape at the old palace of the erstwhile court marshal which the president has made his home.

Rarely is the ex-saddler seen or recognized in public and picture postals of members of the Hohenzollern family are more plentiful in stationery stores than those of Fritz Ebert.

A formal reception at the presidential residence is therefore something of an event in Berlin. For the first time, Herr Ebert the other evening entertained about 100 of the most prominent German citizens who have made their peace with the present regime, or nearly so.

Besides cabinet ministers and chiefs of departments there were university professors, poets, sculptors, musicians, painters, actors and authors.

President Ebert, welcoming his guests, spoke of his desire to meet personally the present leaders of thought, arts and sciences of the fatherland and dwell on the importance such gatherings would have in fostering culture which she conceived was the task of the new republican regime sedulously to promote.

Professor Adolf von Harnack, theologian, delivered a short allocution on the ancient conception of charity, and Konrad Ansorge, eminent pianist, played Beethoven's Appassionata.

The president is a cheerful host and his first social evening is said to have been a complete success.

GERMANY'S IRON MAN REVEALED

As usual with Stinnes concerns they were finally combined into the big Rheinisch-Westphalian Electric Works Corporation.

Its present field is enormous. It covers a region from the Dutch frontiers as far south as Ahrtal and is especially strong around Dusseldorf, Cologne, Dortmund, Essen and Bochum. In several places its electric power plants actually stand at the edge of coal mines, so the fuel goes from pit to boiler.

The electric plants not only supply lights for many cities of the Ruhr and for the illuminating of big mines, but also the power used in the street railways, most of which are owned and operated by the municipalities. Stinnes cleverly got the town fathers to invest municipal money in the Rheinisch-Westphalian Electric Works.

Thus the towns have a decided interest in the prosperity of the corporation. As consumers they buy electric current for their street lighting and their street railways. As stockholders they participate in the considerable profits of the company. This is true of big cities like Essen, Muelheim, Ruhrort, Solingen, Gelsenkirchen and all the other steel towns of which one heard so much during the war.

The company has also gone extensively into the gas business. In the past ten years it has erected and owns the gas plants for about 25 cities in the Ruhr region.

It also constructed and partly owns a considerable number of water reservoirs. The far-seeing Stinnes also bought into the concern the big lignite company of Bruchl. This not only gave him another immense electric power station, but assured the combine an annual supply of 3,000,000 tons of lignite. The last available report showed that the Rheinisch-Westphalian Electric Works produced the tremendous yearly sum of 626 million kilowatt-hours of energy. Of this 260 millions were used by its own street railways and similar organizations.

Going into southern Germany, Stinnes acquired a big interest in the South German Railway Corporation of Darmstadt. This concern owns street railway systems in 15 German cities.

As the big figure in the Siemens-Rhine-Elbe-Schuckert Union, Stinnes also derives income from still other municipalities. This last named corporation owns power stations in Turin and the Harz mountains, electric light plants in Mannheim and street railways in Vienna, Elberfeld, Barmen and Wuerzburg, besides which it owns a big share in the Berlin underground railway system.

BILLBOARDS ARE DEFENDED AS "PUBLIC ART GALLERIES"

BY TOM KOKES

Chairman of the Legislative Department of the Poster Advertising Association.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 24.—Just in proportion to the improvements brought about in our architecture, city planning and zoning, the maintenance of the appearances of our dwellings, office buildings, factories, garages, gas filling stations, barns, sheds, the cleaning up of the tenement and slum districts of our cities, the obliteration of dump heaps, mosquito-breeding pools and untidy vacant lots, and the more rigid enforcement of the laws now on the statute books having to do with the abatement of the common nuisances—just in the same proportion, only multiplied many fold, will be the improvement of the so-called "billboard" situation in this country.

This is the answer of the poster advertising industry and other legitimate outdoor advertising interests of the United States to a number of recent attacks upon "billboards" as unsightly nuisances and blots upon the landscape.

A particular reference to the animadversions of Joseph Pennell, a famous etcher and biographer of Whistler and otherwise well known for his denunciations generally of anything which disagrees with his own personal opinions.

Furthermore, the legitimate outdoor advertising interests stand ready to co-operate with the art and civic organizations in any improvement campaign.

The Poster Advertising association, which is represented in 8,500 cities and towns in the United States and Canada, would also have the public differentiate, as between the legitimate standard poster advertising boards and the regular painted bulletins, signs, billboards, etc., which are affixed in different ways to trees, fences, stables, etc. Every effort is being made by the legitimate outdoor advertising interests to have the tagging and sniping and bill daubing eliminated.

The legitimate outdoor advertising sign is an article of commercial utility. Many objects of commercial utility spoil the landscape. But their improvement, rather than their elimination, is sought, because the economic functions of objects of utility is pretty well understood and appreciated.

It is only because of a more or less general ignorance of the functions of advertising in business that advertising signs are not generally regarded as objects of commercial utility.

The legitimate outdoor advertising signs have often been referred to as "the public art galleries." The colorful posters appeal to the masses and classes, and they furnish about the only art many poor people can get to see and appreciate.

Friends Of Other Barred Aliens Insist Mrs. Chaplin Be Deported

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Propaganda may force the deportation of Mrs. Hannah Chaplin, mother of the film comedian, Charlie Chaplin. It became known today that the forces are at work insisting that Mrs. Chaplin, temporary immigrant, remains, more than 100 others admitted under the same circumstances also should remain.

Mrs. Chaplin, who is an actress was temporarily admitted to the United States for one year. Because of shell-shock suffered during an air raid on London by German zeppelins in 1917 she was ordered to leave the medical provisions of the immigrant law. As is often done, however, she was admitted temporarily.

Immediately after arriving here Mrs. Chaplin was taken to California where Charlie had prepared a home for her and has been living there quietly ever since.

The year's grace granted her is about to expire. Several days ago attorneys for Charlie submitted an application for extension of the temporary stay and sent in also a certificate of physicians saying she had improved wonderfully since reaching California.

The secretary of labor has authority to grant an extension, but an official of the department tonight said an organized propaganda had been started by powerful influences to prevent any action against about 150 similar cases. If an extension is granted to Mrs. Chaplin.

It is understood the commissioner of immigration approved the extension, but the question was to be decided by the secretary, who is waiting for additional facts on the case.

Jews Seek To End Race Intolerance

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Steps to combat intolerance of Jews throughout the world and to preserve Jewish culture and history today were urged in addresses and resolutions adopted by the American Jewish Congress in session with 400 delegates from all parts of the United States.

The Congress exists, according to keynote speeches, "not to create a State within a State but to unify American Jewry."

One resolution adopted "Appreciates the sinister propaganda by irresponsible agitators to sow suspicion and hostility against the Jewish people," and another expresses continual friendship for the Lithuanian people.

Immediate removal of all restrictions against immigration into Palestine was the basis of a resolution which declares freedom of immigration to be the first condition of the successful realization of the Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York was selected permanent Chairman.

"In this land," he declared, "it is the bounden duty of Jews to order their affairs in a truly democratic fashion. This is no place for Jewish partnership and sectarianism."

Liberal immigration laws to permit those persecuted for religious reasons to find a haven here were urged and a committee appointed to study immigration with a view to helping Jews who desire to establish homes in Palestine.

Explains Terms In India's Campaign

(By The Associated Press.)

RANGOON, Burma, May 25.—The following explanation of terms used in the campaign for home rule in India and description of some of the Indian governmental institutions may enable American readers to understand more easily the news of that movement:

Boycott—Refusal to wear or use any foreign-made goods, sometimes means the same as non-co-operation.

Civil disobedience—Refusal not only to co-operate with the present government, but also to pay taxes to it or to be bound by its laws.

Harital—Voluntary general suspension of business to show disapproval of something the government has done or is about to do; usually intended also to show the strength of the non-co-operators.

Khalifat—A movement on the part of Mohammedans, especially those of India, originating as a protest against the peace terms offered to Turkey at the close of the war, and now seeking the restoration of the khalif's temporal power and the free rule of Mohammedans from Christian rule. A delegation to the viceroy, Lord Reading, stated to minimize demand thus: "Arabia, as delimited by Moslem authorities, and the holy places of Islam must remain under the control of the khalif. Islam has ever associated temporal power with the khalifat. We therefore consider that to make the sultan (of Turkey) a mere puppet would add insult to injury and would only be understood by Indian Moslems as an affront given to them by a combination of Christian powers."

The All-India Moslem League—Established in 1906, the chief object of which is "to protect and advance the political and other rights of Mussulmans in India." It also supports the khalifat and non-co-operation movements.

Non-Co-operation—Refusal to hold office under the British government, to patronize its law courts or schools, or to attend social functions given by government officials or in their honor.

Swadeshi—Literally indigenous or of the land. Defined by M. K. Gandhi, as "that spirit in us which restrains us to the use and service of our immediate surroundings, to the exclusion of the more remote." Thus, in religion, he would follow only the forms of worship used by his ancestors; in politics he would make use only of those institutions which were indigenous; in economic life he would use only things produced by himself or his immediate neighbors and would serve only those industries which are native to his own country.

Volunteers—Men who have pledged themselves to serve the interests of either the Indian National Congress or the All-India Moslem League.

Congress—The Indian National Congress, founded in 1885 and meeting annually; present object is the attainment of Swaraj by the people of India by all legitimate and peaceful means, the qualification, "within the British Empire," being omitted intentionally; work between sessions through a "Working Committee," appointed Gandhi as dictator at Ahmedabad meeting in December, 1921.

Assembly—The Indian Legislative Assembly, the lower house of the Indian legislature, of which the upper is the Council of State, established under the Government of India Act of 1919, as a part of the Chemsford-Montagu reform scheme.

FRILLS, FLUTINGS, FLOUNCES PASS INTO DISCARD

WHERE are the laces, frills, flutings and flounces of yesteryear? Gone, evidently, with the well-known snowstorms of the same period. At any rate, they no longer make their homes in the fashionable woman's wardrobe.

Clothes are severe affairs. They may be trimmed, but never with lace and ruffles. Even lace-edged handkerchiefs are difficult to find. As for underwear—a Spartan simplicity prevails in its cut and trimming.

Tailored underwear is the thing. If you have an irrepressibly giddy soul you may make it of bright colored crepe or silk, or even tissue gingham, this season—but that's as far as fashion will allow you to be frivolous. All the colors you like—but not a single frothy, frilly, lacy ruffle if you value your fashionable reputation!

FORMER MEMBER TELLS DETAILS

NEW YORK, May 24.—William R. Wilson, a former member of the American Cotton Exchange testifying today at the trial of the exchange on a charge of maintaining a racket shop declared that he was expelled from the organization for complaining against the methods employed on its floor.

"The exchange has a book of rules hasn't it?" he was asked during his cross-examination by defense counsel. "It has," replied the witness, "but no one ever lives up to the rules."

Wilson testified that on the basis of his expulsion he had indicated a suit of $250,000 damages against the exchange. Asked whether or not he had ever backed orders, the witness admitted that he had but added that he had to.

"Then how can you, a crook and a gambler, be damaged by expulsion?" the defense counsel asked. "That's for the court to decide not me," said the witness.

It was under re-direct examination that Wilson explained the details of his expulsion, saying that after he had made his complaint against the exchange to the district attorney he was "kicked out without a hearing."

Denies Dinner Was Dival Affair

RICHMOND, Va., May 23.—Miss Lucy Randolph Mason, president of the Richmond League of Women Voters, who is a sister of John Ambler Mason, of Baltimore, gave out a statement today denying that a dinner given by the Richmond League last Thursday evening was a rival affair to be held the same evening under the auspices of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in honor of Congressman Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma.

It appears that Miss Robertson in her speech before the Federation referred to the other dinner as a rival affair. Miss Mason said that the league's dinner was in no sense in competition and that it had been arranged more than a week prior to the announcement that the Federation would give a dinner to Congressman Robertson, Mrs. Ann Webster, a national officer of the League of Women Voters, was the honor guest at the league's dinner.

Talk Now of "Wet"
Senate Candidate

Strange Political Gossip
Emanates from Winchester Where Former Davis Support Is Active.

WINCHESTER, May 24.—The practicability of endorsing an avowed wet candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, thus precipitating a three-cornered fight in the primary August 1, is being thrashed out by a certain political group here tonight. The conferees are gathered here from several sections of the state, it is learned. Charles H. Shipman, of Leesburg, who managed Westmoreland Davis' gubernatorial campaign four years ago, is one of the principal men at the conference. It was said Davis and Shipman have virtually broken off their political relationship since his former, now a candidate for the senate pledged in his declaration of principles that if elected he would not vote to weaken the Volstead act.

When Mr. Davis was a candidate for governor there were those who asserted that he leaned more toward the wet element than toward the dry and who afterwards claimed that his nomination was due to the dry vote being divided between the late J. Taylor Elyson and John Gailand Pollard, the former of whom was the preference of the Anti-Saloon League leaders and for the latter of whom was a pronounced dry man. Official returns, however, showed that Mr. Davis had a larger vote than both his opponents by about 300. When he was governor, Mr. Davis had several verbal clashes with the Anti-Saloon League and he was accused of pardoning an unusually large number of men convicted of violating prohibition laws. The governor replied to many of his critics and cited the record to prove that he pardoned no more criminals than his predecessors had pardoned.

Now that Mr. Davis is a candidate for the senatorial nomination and has reiterated that he is a teetotaler and will not if elected, vote to weaken the Volstead act, some individuals among the wets of the state who have supported him in the past make no attempt to disguise their disappointment and chagrin that they can not count on him as a wet candidate, and now, at the eleventh hour, they are casting about for a candidate to run against both Mr. Davis and Senator Swanson, who is a candidate to succeed himself.

It was reported that several names were discussed by the conferees to Judge R. T. W. Duke of Charlottesville and Colonel Robert F. Leedy of Luray, who four years ago unsuccessfully opposed Representative W. Harrison of Winchester, on a light wine and beer platform. It is said that Colonel Leedy asking to be released from his pledge to support the former governor for the senatorial nomination, the latter being "tired" of Mr. Davis' declaration of principles, could not support any effort to weaken the Volstead act.

In addition to putting their heads together and surveying the situation, the conferees here tonight also are expected to take up the matter of raising funds to carry on a campaign. It was reported some outside help in a financial way may be sought. If any determine to run, the chief chairman at least 60 days before August 1, the primary date. This means that no candidate can qualify for the primary after midnight May 21.

HORSE FINALLY KILLS HIM
PUEBLO, Col., May 24.—William A. Baxter, 45, expert horseman, who formerly was an exhibition rider for the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, was found dead, his skull fractured and his face torn by barbed wire, near his home today. He was thrown by his horse which he had ridden to a neighbor's house.

Baxter was said to be one of the few men who could ride a galloping horse at full speed and shoot glass balls at the same time.

The amethyst is often called the "prelate's gem" from the fact that in the Roman Catholic church it is set in the pastoral ring of bishops.

So dense is the population in some parts of China that millions are forced to live in the water in boats.

Danville Musical
Yes, Danville is a very musical city. The way people are buying popular and standard songs at Frix's is surely proof. Their sheet music department is a very busy one all the year round. They supply the Danville music teachers and those a hundred miles away.

Mr. John Westbrook, Jr.
Has a large class learning to play small instruments. He is helping to make Danville more musical. Why not get him to teach you to play the guitar, mandolin, or the saxophone. See him at Frix's. Instruments will be supplied on easy terms, also arrange for lessons. It's almost a sin to grow up without learning to play some instrument. You can learn in four or five weeks.

Baby Grand Pianos.
Every lover of the piano wants a Baby Grand whether she ever gets it or not. A good many are now buying them. We can allow a fair and liberal price for your upright in exchange for a beautiful Frix's or Lester or Kimball and arrange extremely liberal terms. Step in at Frix's and see a beautiful Lester Baby Grand in the new brown mahogany.

Everything Musical
At Frix's. It's a music department where anything musical can be obtained. You are always welcome.
